RAILEY Rose BIO

Railey Rose, 24, is an American singer, songwriter from Houston, Texas. Rose's musical aesthetic can be described as meshing alternative pop vocals with hip hop and contemporary r&b stylings. Railey Rose works hard to own her sound and is confident in her emerging career.

Rose credits all of the late night jams sessions with her dad, a blues, rock guitarist and songwriter for her love of music. Rose's interest in recording music began in high school, but it wasn't until after graduation that she knew singing and writing music was her calling. "I knew that music is what I was put on this earth to do," Rose said. After handling the loss of friends and family and ending a relationship, she remained determined to inspire others to go for their dreams, despite their setbacks. "I networked and built new relationships. I tried to record in the studio every chance I got so I could perfect my craft." Rose said. She thinks her best strength as an artist is her versatility and uniqueness in her voice and delivery. "No no one can take that away from me" Rose said.

Along her journey as an indie artist, Rose's music career dreams became a reality when a regular day at work, recording music in Houston's Downtown Art District, led her to sign a deal with 1501 Certified Entertainment. Rose's manager, Juice, admired her hustle and talent and began flaunting the upcoming artist music. The summer of 2017, Rose was invited to the 1501 studio and recorded some vocals for Carl Crawford, CEO of 1501 Certified Entertainment.

Crawford liked Rose's alternative R&B sound and appreciated that her lyrics revolved around raw moments of personal experiences in the themes of love, life and controversy. In late 2018, Rose signed a label deal. "1501 gave me a platform that would've taken longer if we had never crossed paths." Rose said. "I'm forever grateful to be in the position I'm in now." Rose has since released multiple singles, available on all music platforms. From the laid back aesthetic on "LAX" to the attitude and heavenly melodies on "How Could You", Rose proves that her sound needs to be heard and indulged in. Her hip, sensually sweet voice adds relaxation while listening to her music. Her latest single, "Friday", finds her feather light tone, sexy and aloof over an energetic beat that uplifts for a positive vibe that flexes the best turn up for your weekend.

Continuing in her momentum, Rose recently revealed her debut EP "Sounds of a Rose" will release the winter of 2019. "I feel so proud and humble to create my own" Rose said. The project features production of two grammy nominated producers also released through 1501 Certified Ent. The EP will reflect the sweet sounds and struggles Rose dealt with throughout her life. It presents music with real and raw feelings, that other roses from concrete can relate to. "I want to be able to leave my mark on earth with my music, but without having boundaries." Rose said. She hopes her listeners will pay close attention to her lyrics and she promises to deliver a body of work that will compliment the musical spaces of today and the future. Railey Rose is one to keep your ear on moving forward.
